SCORE WAS 5 TO 7.

Stevens Point Carries off the Second Game with the Local Team on Sunday.

The Tigers played a game of baseball with Stevens Point on Sunday, which the visitors won by a score of 5 to 7.

There was a large crowd of baseball enthusiasts in attendance and both teams played good ball, but the umpiring done by Chasick, the Stevens Point man was a little the rottenest ever witnessed on the home grounds. Every ball the Stevens Point pitcher threw was a strike, no matter where it went, several of the batters that were called being above the strike zone. It was so rotten that even the Stevens Point players could not keep from laughing at the decisions, and certain ones of them admitted afterwards that the game had been given to them. These poor decisions caused a number of arguments and it was after six o'clock before the game was finished.

Charlie played a good game for the visitors until the seventh inning, when he seemed to weaken considerably and losing control of the ball, was several times wild pitching. He did not have much support, however, which kept the score down. McCannell for the Tigers, pitched only an ordinary game, but he also had good support.

EXCEED THE LIMIT.

More People want Saloon Licenses than the New Law Recently Passed Allows.

Twenty-nine applications have been made to the city clerk for saloon licenses during the coming year and this number is in excess of that allowed by law since the new state law was passed. According to our population, only twenty-five saloons are allowed in this city, but of course the law does not apply to persons already in the business. However, according to the law, no new saloons can be started, nor any new persons engaged in the business. Following are a list of those who have made application for license:

Charles Gertler, C. E. Krause & Co., C. F. & Alex. Bandelin, G. W. Mason, Nick Tomczyk, Brandstadt & Poloy, Harvey Goe & Co., Charles A. Dixon, James Chausorlain, Johnston & Mason, Garski & Shadowski, Charles A. Giesco, Charles Gouget, Joe Kirschling, Paster & Reimer, Joe Johnson, E. M. Hayes, John Hart, John Dix, Aug. C. Miller, O. W. Persohn, Curtis Crotteau, Henry W. Casberg, Joe Monahan, E. N. Meier & Son, John Mallmiller, and Stahl & Denis.

The funeral was held on Tuesday from the Lutheran church in this city.

Fourth of July Dance. — Don't forget the dance on the Fourth of July evening at John Posen's place. Good music and a good time assured to all.

A NARROW ESCAPE.

Frank Whitrock has Team Killed by Lightning and only Escapes by Chance.

Frank Whitrock, the melon man, lost a team by lightning on Saturday last, but he escaped a similar fate by a narrow escape.

Mr. Whitrock and his son had been engaged that day in raking up a heavy load of melons which had been cut the day before, and which had been left in the open. A heavy storm was approaching and the melons were being moved to a barn near by. He did so and was about to enter the barn himself when he decided that he would go into a shed some distance away. His son soon after entering the shed there was a sharp flash of lightning, followed almost simultaneously by a heavy peal of thunder, and when Mr. Whitrock looked from the shed he noticed that the barn was on fire, and realized for the first time that the barn had been struck by lightning.

The two hurried to the barn with the intention of getting out the horses, when they discovered that the animals had been knocked down by the shock. They turned their attention to putting out the fire and when this had been done the horses were examined and found to be dead.

The team was valued at $200, but Mr. Whitrock is well satisfied with the outcome of the affair, as it was merely a lucky chance that he and his son were not in the building with the horses at the time the lightning struck it.

TO WIDEN STREETS.

One of the Matters that Occupied Considerable Time at Council Meeting last Night.

One of the matters that came up for discussion at the meeting of the city council last evening was the matter of widening Vine street. The matter was brought up by the presentation of a petition signed by a large number of citizens, which asked that the city council take hold of the matter and see that something was done to secure its improvement. A committee had previously been appointed by the council to look into the matter and they reported that the cost as near as could be estimated, would be about $2,500. About the same sum would be necessary to same street fifty feet, the two streets having been under consideration.

Among those who spoke on the matter was Attorney R. R. Groggins, who was present at the meeting in the capacity of a private citizen, and he gave a very interesting talk on the matter. He explained that the city was not necessary to get the consent of the property owners to the widening of the street, but that if the council decided that the improvements were necessary they could proceed according to the law governing such matters, awarding damages to those who were entitled to same, and assessing others for the benefits they derive. According to law, property within one thousand feet of the street can be assessed for benefits, the amount varying in proportion to the distance they are from the street.

Another matter that was discussed was that of the drainage matter on the west side. The city attorney and city clerk had been appointed at a previous meeting to secure opinions on the right of way for a ditch which was proposed to dig, but they had humped up against a snag at the start because of not being able to give more explicit information of what the city proposed to do in the matter and they were unable to finish the work.

Death of Fred Ebert.

Fred Ebert, son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Ebert, died at the home of his parents in this city at one o'clock Thursday morning. Deceased was 21 years of age and death was due to tuberculosis and heart trouble.

Fred was born at Corcoran, Minn., but had lived in this city with his parents for a number of years. After finishing school here he attended business college in LaCrosse, Wis., which he graduated. For some time he was employed in the office of the Minnesota Transfer Ry. at Minneapolis. He came home to this city two weeks before Christmas, and since that time has gradually failed in health until the end came. He was a member of the LaSalle and the Young People's Society of Christian Endeavor. The funeral was held at 2:30 o'clock on Sunday afternoon from the Congregational church. Rev. Staff conducted the services, the remains being interred in Forest Hill Cemetery. Fred was a bright young man, well liked by his associates and his parents have the sympathy of the community in their sad affliction.

CROOKS IN TOWN.

Officer Berg has Engagement with Four Men who are Trying to Enter Grocer Store.

Four men tried to enter the old Grocer and Lumber store last night (about two o'clock), but owing to the vigilance of Officer Berg, the men failed in the attempt. It is entirely probable that they would not have got anything of much value had they succeeded in getting into the building, but their intentions were just as bad. The men made their escape, but Mr. Berg has a true assessment of the situation. He picked up the men after the men left, and which would be pleased to interview them about.

Mr. Berg's story of the affair is about as follows: He was standing across the street from the store about two in the morning when he heard a noise like the breaking of glass, which sounded as if it came from back of the store. He went over to investigate the matter and found a man standing back of the store, looking at the shelves. He asked what the fellow was doing there and he made some mumbled excuse about waiting for a friend who was there. Mr. Berg passed the back door in the passage to the back door of the store, where he found three men. He entered them to get out, and they fled out of the passage way past him and into the alley.

When one of them pulled out a revolver, evidently with the intention of taking a shot at the night watch man, Mr. Berg was too quick for them, however, and pulled out his revolver and shot at the would-be robber, and the four of them turned about and ran without further delay.

In looking over the ground afterward, Mr. Berg picked up a package containing a large number of skeleton keys, which had evidently been in the possession of the men. The police have since been searching for the men but nothing has been found of them.

Baykowski-Hass.

Otto Baykowski and Miss Helena Hass were united in marriage at St. John's Lutheran church in this city on Tuesday afternoon at 2 o'clock. Rev. Baum officiating. Both parties are of the town of Remington, where they have a large circle of friends who will extend the heartiest of congratulations.

No Balloon Ascension.

The firemen report that they have been disappointed in their balloon ascension which they had planned for the Fourth, as the lady who was to make the ascension here was hurt on Tuesday. The time was so short that they were unable to secure any body else.

MARRIAGE LICENSES.

John Kuchmowski and Hanna Ziemann, both of Port Edwards, and Otto A. Barkowski of Andover and Lena E. Hass of Babcock.

Fair Day Again.

Next Tuesday is fair day, and don't you forget it. John Bell has been looking for the matter up as usual and he says it's going to be a hummer. He says there are a number of good heavy horses wanted, and farmers who have anything of the sort to dispose of should make a note of the fact and be on hand with their stock. Other live stock will also find a ready sale.

The Grand Rapids Brewing Co. will give a keg of beer to the farmer who brings in the largest number of samples to the brewery. Don't forget the date Tuesday, July 9, East Side market.

Excursion from Marshfield.

The Marshfield hall team will come down on Sunday with a special train over the Wisconsin Central, and in the afternoon at 3 o'clock will cross back with the "Tigers".

Marshfield has a good team this year and the fact will be treated to a good game. Several hundred excursionists expect to be down to root for their team.

Ottile-Hassel.

Miss Hassie Ottile of Port Edwards and Charles O. Hassel, of the town of Carson, Portage county, were married by Rev. C. Madsen Saturday afternoon. The groom is a prosperous farmer, living near Randolph, where he owns a fine farm and the bride is a most estimable young lady. A happy wedded life is the best wish of their friends.

Dug up a Relic.

Dr. V. P. Norton has an ancient "pepperbox" revolver which he recently unearthed while digging angleworms. The fire arm is a relic of half a century ago and its like is seldom seen nowadays.

FORM NEW COMPANY.

Local as Well as Outside Capital Will Take Stock in New Concern.

Articles of incorporation were filed on Monday for a new company which will carry on business in this city, the calculations of the organizers are carried out. The incorporators are T. A. Taylor, D. B. Conway, Peter Mitchell and James H. Hiley. It is understood that the stock will be taken by a number of others, some of which have already signed their intention of doing so, while others will be approached on the subject.

An option on twenty three acres of land belonging to the Garrison estate has been secured by the company. This land is located north of the city and is bounded by the railroad and Central tracks, and is said to be admirably located for the purpose intended.

The company proposes to take the rough product from sawmills, that part of the cut which cannot be sold for lumber, short timbers, etc., and to put the same into shape for manufacturing purposes. There is a great demand for this sort of lumber by manufacturers who have not the facilities for getting it out for themselves, and it is this class that will be supplied. At the present time very few particulars can be given concerning the company, as none of the original promoters are in the city.

Water Supply All Right.

During an interview with Engineer Pfeiffer on Saturday, that gentleman stated that the line and city raised about the water supply being in sufficient to supply the needs of the city, was all right, and that there was no indication that there would be any scarcity. He stated that there was one day when an unusual amount of water was used, that the water in the reservoir got very low and he notified the street sprinkler not to use any more from the city hydrants, and the consequence was that there was plenty.

Gehrman-Pagels.

A two o'clock this afternoon from the St. John Lutheran church on the west side occurred the marriage of Carl Gehrman and Miss Martha Pagels of Randolph. Rev. Baum performing the ceremony. They were accompanied by Miss Herta Pagels and Fritz Pagels. The young couple are well known in this vicinity where they have many friends who will wish them much joy.

Card of Thanks.

We wish to extend our heartfelt thanks to the many kind friends and neighbors, who so kindly assisted us during the illness and death of our son, Fred.

After Supper Sale

We were quite sure that there would be no lack of buyers at the first Saturday Night Sale—the crowd came—it saw and was conquered—it needed no microscope to discover the remarkable values. The merchandise was here, exactly as we advertised it—the prices, well we only know that action began at the stroke of 7 o'clock and continued unabated until closing time.

One can bring a crowd with an offering of big values, but one won't do business unless the prices match the advertisement. We did business.

We have prepared for the 2nd After Supper Sale with another great budget of bargains. We will see a large percentage of the people who came to the first and a host of their friends—because there has been much talk of the plums that were picked at the first sale. So you had better come too—another crop is ready for those who like to buy goods at retail, at less than most stores pay wholesale.

J. T. SCHUMACHER'S

Sale Saturday evening July 6th

It's the playful little chaps that require the best made clothing; it isn't every boy's suit that is picked up hap-hazard that will give satisfaction in wear under all rough and tumble usage. It pays mothers, therefore, to investigate to the boys' clothes question in a thorough manner. There are a host of boys' clothes makes in the country, but you can count the good reliable ones on the fingers of your hands. We have investigated and in offering you the "Spitz Scholberger" make of boys clothing we are prompted only by the best motives; they are made to wear, and do wear, and we are so confident of their goodness that we guarantee them.

Boys Suits $1.50 to $6.50

Turner Mead. The assembly by a vote of 41 to 38 overrode an adverse report of the transportation committee on the Turner two-cent passenger fare bill and ordered the measure to engrossment and third reading. An effort to suspend the rules so that the bill could be passed immediately failed by a vote of 39 to 40. The bill provides that railroads whose gross earnings in Wisconsin amount to $7,000 or more per mile shall not charge more than one cent per mile for carrying passengers.

Whole Body Covered with Cuban Itch.—Cuticura Remedies Cured at Cost of Seventy-Five Cents.

"My little boy, when only an infant of three months, caught the Cuban Itch, and the doctors said that he would be the victim of it for the rest of his life and claw himself if we did not stop it in time. He could not sleep day or night and a light dress on his body would irritate him, but one of our best doctors told me that he had learned to cure it. He suffered on another baby who had been cured. We believed he would have the same. He had almost given up hope when a lady friend told me to try the Cuticura Remedies. I used the Cuticura Soap and applied the Cuticura Ointment and he at once fell into sleep, and he slept with ease for the first time since two months. After three applications his body began to dry up, and in just two weeks from the day he commenced to use the Cuticura Remedies my baby was entirely well. The treatment only cost me six cents, and would have hardly paid $100 if I could not have put it cheaper. I feel that I owe my life to the Cuticura Remedies, saying this, I feel now a boy of five years."—Wm. Zann Miller, Union City, N. J., Dr. No. 1, Branch Co., Mich., Mar. 17, 1900.

Amblyopia.

At the death of a much-loved father for some years past the vestry of prominent New York church resolved to place a tablet to his memory on the vestibule of the church, The Harpers Weekly. In due time the tablet appeared in its place, and was still remaining. In fact, it was not so few weeks, but after receiving a letter from the father's vestry and a letter of condolence with the quotation:

"Now the people of God have remembered."

Shrew white goods, in fact, any of the wash goods of the store, are much more attractive to the eye than the goods that are made in the way that is mentioned, this being done in a manner to enhance their textile beauty. Home handiwork would be equally satisfactory if proper attention was given to starching, the first essential being good Starch, which has the strength to adhere, without staining the goods, to the fabric. Advance Starch is guaranteed to pleasantly surprise at its improved appearance of your work.

IS OFTEN PREVENTED BY DR. WILLIAMS' PINK PILLS.

Taken When the First Warning Signs Come Are Noticed Much Nerve Suffering May Be Saved.

Are you troubled with pallor, loss of spirits, waves of heat passing over the body, shivering, or breaths after all kinds of ailments? A peculiar skipping of the heart beat, poor digestion, cold extremities or a feeling of weight and fullness? Do not make the mistake of thinking that these are diseases in themselves, and be satisfied with temporary relief. This is the way the nervous system is injured, and they are breaking down. This simply means that the blood has become impure and cannot carry enough nourishment to the nerves to keep them laboring as they should.

Rest, alone, will sometimes give needed relief. The tonic treatment of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, however, is essential in all cases, and the more serious diseases will follow, because the pills act directly upon the impure blood, making it red and pure.

Mrs. J. C. Bradley, of 103 Park Avenue, Rochester, N. Y., says:

"I was never very healthy, and for years ago, when I was twenty, I was overtaken by a nervous shock, caused by a misfortune to a friend. It was great that I was unfit for work."

"I was just weak. This nervous condition did not break down my strength, and I did not bear the least noise. My food was poor and I did not care for my food. I couldn't sleep well and was nervous and nervous. I had a headache and a severe headache most of the day and pains in the back and spine."

"I was treated by two doctors, but no good came of it. I was then told that I should try Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. I began to feel better and the headache and the nervousness went away. I was then told that I should try Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. I began to feel better and the headache and the nervousness went away. I was then told that I should try Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. I began to feel better and the headache and the nervousness went away."

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are invaluable in such diseases as nervous prostration, the grip and fevers, neuralgia, St. Vitus' dance and even Paresis and locomotor ataxia.

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are sold all over the world, and will be sent, post paid, on receipt of price, 50 cents per box for boxes for $2.50, by the Dr. Williams' Medicine Company, Schenectady, N. Y.

AMONG CRANBERRY MEN.

EDITED BY J. A. GAYNOR.

Grand Rapids, Wisconsin.

Experiment Station Notes.

By R. H. Hadenberg and G. M. Mable.

Until now the cranberry experiment station at Grand Rapids has been rather reluctant in regard to the giving out of information or suggestions to cranberry growers during the summer season, as it was not deemed advisable to rush into print with statements, which were gathered from a few isolated facts, or suggestions, the practicability of which could only be determined by repeated experiments. Therefore it has been the practice to gather all facts and experiments at the end of the season's work, and combine them into our final annual report, drawing only such conclusions as were fully warranted by our results.

The experiment station however, in order to fulfill its purpose, namely that of being of practical assistance to the cranberry growers, needs their cooperation, and they should be kept in touch with and interested in the work. Being done there, and as an annual report is not the best way to accomplish this, (touching the cranberry men in the winter time, when their interest is at low ebb) we realize that we should publish the facts and reasons of our preliminary experiments from time to time as they come up, calling the grower's attention to new problems and suggesting their correspondence and opinion, and encouraging them to new methods of dealing with old ones.

A New Friend of the Cranberry Grower.

Shortly after my arrival on the station, June 15th, I noticed a little yellow-headed wasp flying around, which disappeared in a narrow crevice standing on a shelf. Wondering what it was doing there, I looked in and saw that the wasp was almost completely clogged with mud; and upon shaking it out upon a piece of white paper, a number of yellow-headed vineworms fell out: thirty-six of them, all partly paralyzed, with only the abdomen movable. To one of them an egg of the wasp was attached. It is well known that certain mud wasps hunt caterpillars, spiders, grasshoppers, etc., any particular kind of wasp, confining itself to only one kind of spider, grasshopper or caterpillar as the case may be, which it paralyzes by one or more stings, carries to a nest dug in the ground or built of mud in a convenient corner and when a sufficient number have been put in, it lays an egg and seals up the nest. These caterpillars are not killed but they are paralyzed so that the larva of the wasp, upon hatching has a sufficient supply of fresh food to grow and complete its development. A single wasp will always make a good many nests in a season, and as each nest is provided with a number of victims, these wasps destroy a good many of them in a season. These general facts are well known, but, to my knowledge this far an account has been published of a wasp chasing the yellow-headed vine worm for its victim. Only yellowheads were found in the nest, and also blackheads were at least equally plentiful, none of them was found among the thirty-six in this particular nest. A small percentage of these worms are alive yet, some two weeks after having been stung.

The wasp in question (as yet its name has not been determined), is not at all uncommon (more than half a dozen have been found accidentally in or on the house), and, although it does not think that it will be abundant enough to prove of any practical value in exterminating the worm. I would mention it as being of interest, and caution the grower not to destroy it, when found. The wasp is about 1/2 to 1 inch long, with a black head and four yellow rings at the hind part of the body and the legs banded with yellow.

An Apparently New Enemy.

This year we have noticed on the boys around here, the appearance of what we think to be a new enemy worm. (Chalcidopsis nuptia, Latreille). In its young stage it looks very much like the yellow-headed vineworm, with its yellow head and neck and pale green body, except that the head is somewhat larger. It grows to be fully two inches long and becomes dark green to almost black with numerous white spots, each of which bears a short little hair. It does a great amount of damage, as one of them will eat together twelve or fourteen uprights in extreme cases, and one was found to eat a full grown cranberry leaf in five minutes. They are now ready to pupate and will not have a second brood. They are more susceptible to water-treatment than the fireworm, for a submersion of twelve hours impaired their vitality to such an extent that they did not regain strength enough to crawl back upon the vine and died shortly after, while a flooding of thirty-six hours killed them. These worms have been found on a good many marshes around here; also at Mather and Olney Point, and I would like to know whether or not the marshes have been troubled with them.

We expect the fruit worm miller to appear the first week of July, and the growers are requested to send these millers which they think is the fruit worm miller to me for identification. I will be glad to receive any insects which are suspected of being injurious, and either identify them or try to work out their life history and will welcome any suggestions and inquiries in regard to the treatment and methods of dealing with them which the growers would like to see being carried on. One man at an experiment station working alone cannot expect to accomplish as much as can be done by the cooperation of numbers, each with his own ideas and only this way can the greatest amount of benefit be derived from the cranberry experiment station at Grand Rapids, Wis.

The blackhead vineworm millers are coming out. They were first noticed to hatch in our breeding cages on the morning of June 23rd, and that a few were seen on the vines. They are hovering over the vines now and are ready to lay their eggs now and if spraying is tried for the second brood, it should be done this week, so that the little grub that hatches, will find their first meal poisoned.

Parties sending specimens of worms or moths to be identified, should put them in tin or wooden boxes, as but-ter and cardboard boxes often become damaged in transit.

Moths need no food, but the worms should have part of a vine or other vegetation upon which it was found accompanying it. All packages should be addressed to the State Cranberry Experiment Station, Grand Rapids, Wis.

Aside from the publication of the progress in the insect studies of the station, we shall endeavor to publish some monthly temperature curves from 3 inch etchings and also weekly tables of temperature observations obtained by the station from scaphs and sundial parts of the day. We shall also from time to time publish articles of interest regarding experiments in the testing of fertilizers, spray mixtures, moss and weed killing, etc., and should be pleased to receive inquiries or suggestions along these lines.

The station has during the past ten days been very busy getting spraying and fertilizer tests started.

The tests for killing wool and sphingum are being repeated now and decided results will be forth coming soon.

We are at present attempting to get at the root cause of the "false" blossom which is taking possession of some sections of bogs at Mather and in this we are being assisted by the agricultural Dept., at Washington.

Concerning City Improvement.

My dear Mrs. MacKinnon:

I am greatly interested in the beautifying of our city but feel unable to assist personally.

Will you kindly accept the enclosed contribution to help the good work along? May I suggest that the Federation could do a much needed work in securing the enforcement of the law in regard to leading the cows to pasture. We find that no work on the river bank awaits much while we are daily driven there. We have been planting shrubs and sowing grass seed but the cows ruin all. The law against the use of bicycles on sidewalks should also be enforced. No attention seems to be paid to it.

Mr. Manning, the landscape architect, suggested that the property owners should unite in improving the river banks in a uniform manner. We would be very glad to assist in any plan that would preserve our river banks as a thing of beauty instead of the unsightly appearance they now present in some parts of the city.

Yours sincerely

Mrs. E. E. Nash.

This letter written by Mrs. T. E. Nash to Mrs. MacKinnon will be of interest to the people of our city, showing the interest that is being taken in our Park Commission and the work of the City Federation in their efforts to beautify our little city. There is much to be done, and the work could move faster if the committee had more funds. All work of this nature is very expensive and any contribution will be very gladly received to help the good work along.

The small park on Third Ave. has been cleared, plowed, dragged, but it must be raked, rolled, cleared up on the sides before it can be sown with grass seed. In another year this little recreation ground will be quite an object of pride, we hope.

The work of the library park is in preparation for the plans of a landscape architect, and the proposed plan will include the library building and lawn north, also the saving back of the Arpin property and up to the residence of P. J. Wood. This high bluff and the stream of water from a spring there are features usually made artificially in city parks and will make a more attractive addition to our city when finished.

Mrs. MacKinnon, one of the park commissioners, has been corresponding with Judge John Olin of Madison, who is "Father" and President of the Park association of Madison and his letter on the subject will be of much interest to our readers, and all who are interested in making our city what it should be.

His advice is on the necessity of employing a landscape architect at the very beginning. We would hardly think of erecting a public building without the services of an architect and this work requires the advice and plans of a man who makes this his profession, grading, planting and laying out walks and driveways to give the best results the situation offers. We want to begin right and lose no time, a very valuable item in our work, and an economy in the end.

Work on the river banks will be begun at once, cleaning up and now, the grass. This is only temporary work to make the banks look clean and neat, but it will add much to the appearance of the river and improve the drive along the river. We find our citizens very willing and anxious to help the good work along, which should be a matter of pride to every man, woman and child in the city.

Following is Mr. Olin's letter:

Madison, Wis. June 18, 1907.

Mrs. E. E. MacKinnon, Chairman of the City Improvement Committee, Grand Rapids, Wis.

Dear Madam:

Yours of June 15th, received and contents noted.

You are certainly right in your plan to employ the services of some competent landscape designer to advise with you as to either securing land for parks or properly treating the same after such land is secured.

For a number of years in the work at Madison we did our work without the aid of the services of such a person but we soon saw that that was unwise. We first employed for a number of years Mr. O. C. Simonds of Chicago, a competent landscape designer. But as our work grew, we felt that we needed the services of a man here on the ground, a good share, if not all, of his time. Hence, we induced the common council, in conjunction with our association, to establish the office of park superintendent, and to fill the same with a man recommended by the directors of our association. We were very fortunate in getting a man especially trained in this line of work previous to coming to Madison in the service of Olinsted & Co., Boston. His name is Mr. Emil T. Mische. He has proven very satisfactory. I regard him as thoroughly competent to advise you in your work there. The best recommendation I can give him is that our directors have entrusted and are intrusting to him the making of the plans for large and important parks within our city limits. We have seen enough of his work to be thoroughly satisfied that he is very well qualified and I have no hesitation in recommending him to you for your work there. If you should see fit to employ him, I think we could try and arrange to give him leave of absence for a sufficient length of time to enable him to advise you as to your work there.

Under another cover I send you a copy of our last annual report. On page 38 thereof you will find copy of a map or plan for Henry Vilas Park, which was designed by Mr. Mische, and the planting has been done the present spring.

Yours very truly,

John W. Olin, President.

Frank Cameron and F. L. Tibbitts of Milwaukee were in the city several days the latter part of last week transacting business and meeting old friends.

Tales of Heroism Relieve Recital of Appalling Disasters—
Hairbreadth Escapes and Startling Adventures Form Part of the Building Up of the Great City of the Future—"Immunes" Sought All Over Earth.

A hint of the sacrifice of life in building the tunnel was found in the wreckage of a car of the company in Manhattan. Last year there were 2,160 deaths due to violence in the boroughs, and 681, or nearly one-third, were caused by falls. Explosions, the collapse of earth in excavations, premature blasts, and falling rocks and debris were the chief causes. One man was killed and 10 pushed forward at the cost of 68 lives, or 43 in the Pennsylvania terminal works, 20 in the Belmont tunnel, two in the subway borings under the East river, and three in the Hudson company's terminal at Church and West streets.

FAMOUS DE SOTO OAK DOOMED.

Parasite Attacks Florida's Giant Tree,
Which is Over 300 Years Old.

The famous great oak in the beautiful park surrounding the Tampa Bay Hotel, and which is known as the De Soto oak, for the reason that De Soto camped under it when he landed on this coast, is doomed to death. It has been attacked by a parasite which has killed whole forests in Florida.

The parasite is a sort of moss which blows off other trees with the wind. Whatever tree it lands on there it sticks. The parasite burrows into the tree. It breeds very fast, and the moss it makes grows just as rapidly. Whenever it lands on a tree, the beginning of the end for the life of that tree is a settled fact.

Strangely enough, too, it produces a plant in the branches of the tree very much like a water lily in appearance. It blooms and produces a remarkable effect when the flowers are on. In time the moss hangs down of the tree and all over it. The sap is sucked from the tree and its death is but a question of time.

The De Soto oak is going to boards the same way. And it is a great pity. It is a giant and beautiful oak of the universe. 50 feet around at its base and in height, rears its head verdant and fresh, and has gigantic branches reaching out, as straight as a line, for a distance of over 100 feet. It is known to be over 300 years old.

But it is an ill wind that nobody good can come from. The moss which has taken several hairs from a horse's mane and put through a cleaning pin in Florida and is shipped north in boxes, where it is used as a substitute for hair in the stuffing of mattresses for beds.—Enquirer.

It was a death blow, however, that swelled the list of fatalities. A fire broke out in a subviny building in a formidable town. Rather was it the casualty to single workmen or to some careless bystander—death in the dark recesses of the East river tunnels or a Harlem street.

At first, the workmen were told that the work was leading into the depths of an open trench, injuries from falling timbers, or luges snuffed out by miscalculated blasts, or an avalanche of soggy soil. In 1900, when the subway was started, 27 workmen were killed. In 1901, 28 workmen were killed. In 1902, 29 workmen were killed. In 1903, 30 workmen were killed. In 1904, 31 workmen were killed. NOT ALL MATTER OF MEMORY.

Peculiarity in Numbering Rooms Helped Hotel Clerk.

When it got as far as the cigars at an informal supper the other night, at which the manager of one of the most famous New York hotels was the host, the talk turned on the perfection of modern hotel management. The manager boasted of the fact that in his house at least the clerks were paragons of memory and cleverness.

"Yet I will make a bet of a bottle," said one of the guests, "that exactly said last night, when the clerks change, I, having no room here, can walk to the desk, ask for the key of a certain room, giving the number, and get it."

"Done," said the manager.

Exactly at 12 the man making the bet entered the lobby as if he had just come from the street. This dialogue followed at the desk:

"My key, please—No. 76."

"Yes, sir; what name?"

"Mr. Johnson."

"Yes, Mr. Johnson."

The clerk turned back to the desk as if to reach the key from a "For a moment he was out "Mr. Johnson."

"Then to "Mr. Johnson's" was quietly seized by two seemed to come up from the either side of him and who very politely, but with firm leave the hotel at once.

It was then that the manager came from behind a pillar placed.

A few moments later, when drinking the bottle of cognized loser said:

"Well, that's a wonder. How the deuce do they everybody they see?"

"Easy enough," said the "and in this particular case, I sent a room in the house below 100."

The loser bought another himself without being asked.

Measures in Senate.
The Harriss bill authorizing the pensioning of members of the Wisconsin national guard came up in the senate. The bill had been passed over the report of the claims committee, which recommended that the bill be passed. In the assembly, Senator Sanborn called attention to the matter and the senate refused to concur in the bill. Soon after this action, the senate passed the bill readjusting the salaries in the office of the state board of control and increasing the number of employees. Then came bills crowding new places in the state library with pay according to theoretical scale policy seemingly adopted by the legislature. The next bill provided for an increase of the compensation of the supreme court reporter from $2,000 to $3,500, and providing a salary of $2,000 per annum for the assistant reporter and a stenographer at $900 per annum.

pay its expenses; increasing any of the state superintendent's salary from $5,000 to $5,500 per annum; increasing $20,000 to the state's share of $2,000 for additional hatcheries; appropriating $500 to repair the levees at Portage; amending the law so as to allow only one allowance from the state for the same purpose to the cities and towns for street vacations in lieu for the new bill changing membership of that body go into effect.

Public Utility Bill Passed.

The president provides that all concerns, public, supplying water, electric power or any other such convenience to the people, must be operated under bonds which show the degradation and other

Sprague Is Killed. The assembly, after a long discussion, killed the Sprague bill providing that if none of the candidates for United States senator receives a majority of his party votes the first primaries the members of that party elected to the ensuing legislature shall select one of the candidates at large as the party candidate, the objection being made after the legislature convenes. The vote was 43, to 13 against the bill.

Bar Lobbyists from Floor.

The assembly adopted a resolution barring lobbyists from the floor of the chamber during sessions. The measure, introduced by Democrat McGregory and constitutes an amendment to the rules defining what portion of the chamber shall be reserved to the members. It is aimed, it is understood, at legislative agents of insurance companies and other corporations interested in important legislation.

Changes Rates on Grain.

The state railroad commission acted on order requiring the Chicago & Northwestern and Illinois railroads to make a joint rate on grain from Norwalk, Mo., to Easco, Dunc county, to exceed ten cents per bushel. The rate from Easco, Alabama, to Freedmen, Sauk county, to not to exceed 8½ cents. The rates range from 15 to 18 cents.

No Reapportionment.

At a joint meeting of the apportionment committees it was determined that no necessity existed at the present time justifying a reapportionment of the state legislature. The reason given was that the population was not increasing rapidly. While it was conceded that there were certain districts somewhat out of proportion as to population, a general analysis of the districts demonstrated that if specific changes were made an entirely new Affects Game Wardens.

A new bill came from the committee on fish and game, designed to curb, to some extent at least, the political activities of the deputy game wardens. The bill provides that as compensation for the deputies shall be two dollars per day and they also receive one-half the amount collected in fines from prosecutions instituted by them.

Free Passes Upheld. The assembly finally voted to concur in the senate amendment to prohibit the state board of agriculture from giving free passes to the state fair to persons holding elective or appointive offices. The bill was passed by a vote of 10-4. The assembly committee on agriculture recommended concurrence in the Burns resolution for an amendment striking from the constitution the clause that exempts the state from paying taxes on the land of the state treasury every ten years.

May Compromise with Roads.

A bill was introduced in the senate yesterday by the governor, secretary of state and attorney general to settle the so-called back tax cases against the railroad companies. Since the decision of the Supreme court holding that the state is barred by the statute of limitations from suing the railroads within six years of the time the suits for the back taxes were commenced, the railroads have suggested that the matter be compromised.

Turner Measure Put Forward.

"The assembly by a vote of 41 to 38 overrode an adverse report of the transportation committee on the bill and near two-cent passenger fare bill and ordered the measure to engrossment and third reading. An effort to suspend the rules so that the bill could be passed immediately failed by a vote of 38 to 40. The bill provides that railroads whose gross earnings in Wisconsin amount to $7,000 or more per mile shall not charge more than two cents per mile for carrying Against Commission System.

The assembly killed the bill providing for the Galveston system of governance.

A long discussion developed. Burns Bill establishing minimum wages at Platteville and $30,000 annually for lieutenants. The bill was finally ordered to third reading. The state union members are opposed to it.

Lawrence Ledvina, of Milwaukee, to kill the bill was lost 31 to 32.

Training for Teachers.

In response to the demand for the betterment of the university of Wisconsin is a provision in the coming session for training course designed to meet the needs of the school teachers. Courses of teaching high physics, German, physics, chemistry, drawing, manual physical culture and as well as library trainings are among those offered.

anywhere, often punctally covers these parts. See cut.

A. L. Quaintance further says regarding this species and its control: "The apple-moth is common throughout the State, but it is not so abundant in the spring just after they have hatched from eggs and have collected on the expanding foliage. Trees seen to be badly infested at this time should be thoroughly searched, taking pains to get as completely as possible all parts of the leaves, twigs and branches. However thoroughly work may be done, some of the eggs are almost sure to be missed. It is due to the difficulty of reaching the spray between the unfolded leaves, more or less covered with hairs, where some of the insects have penetrated. A subsequent search of the trees at a later date is so made, especially if the first action is seen to have been unsuccessful."

After the soil has been disinfested, the use of the aphides effective spray is quite difficult, since many of the aphids on the lower surface of curled leaves will not be hit by the spray. Repeated applications of the aphides effective spray will often be necessary under conditions where the aphids will be found practicing their usual habit of crawling up and down the leaf and immersing the leaf sheaths of badly infested young plants in a bucket of this spray solution. This treatment will be very effective. For spraying the aphides effective spray, use 100 cc. of kerosene emulsion or 20 per cent. kerosene emulsion per cent. crude petroleum oil or whole oil soap at the rate of 1 pound for each four gallons of water. If approved, results of this treatment are secured. The aphides effective spray within the plant, none of the aphids would be of small trees liable to be girdled by the insects. The trees are banked with earth or coal ash to a height of 18 inches to prevent a low habit of the trees making a shady under the branches which would encourage the insects to flourish. The tough soil is found there. Fruit that falls to the ground meets a clean, cool reception. The trees have longer lived than those planted by neighboring farms with the same treatment. No trees were apparently injured during the severe winter of 1898 and 1899.

We reclaimed a field which lies in the big sugar mill. It was filled with cedar brush, log rocks, stumps and small trees. The birds were coming in by throwing on top of the brush a corresponding lot of Farm and other gullies that were just as good as dead. They were stopped by setting crosswires and sticking in a rock. There was fenced off a large tract sprouts which lay inside. A sink-hole with plum sprouts which were useful than the usual assal assal.

Will Make It Stick

By stirring a half gallon of water and a half gallon of paste into a gallon of water preparation is made that will stick easily when used on the stalks, and it will be just as effective to insects and diseases.

A Word of Explanation About Fungicides and Insecticides.

The other class of insecticides kill the insect by coming in contact with the body. Kerosene emulsion, with oil soap, and pyrethrum emulsion, with the most common oil soaps, are the most common. Mixtures of this class are used chiefly to destroy thrips. Insects that suck the juice of the plants cannot be destroyed with poisons. The poisonous insecticides may be mixed with fungicides and applied in one spraying, but the fungicide must be applied separately.

The fungicides and insecticides, properly prepared and applied, will not effect upon the plants. If the mixtures are not properly prepared or applied they do not form the desired protection to the plants and damage to foliage and fruit. The fungicide is not enough poison on the whole sprayed fruits and plants to injure their value for food. Most fruits are injured before eating and all sections of the spraying material removed in the case of fruits that are not prepared before eating, but the fungicide would be found to rot from 300 to 500 pounds to get a small dose of poison. It will always bring the sale of the fruit, however, if there are any signs of a sprayable material on them.

Those floating seeds are to be rejected, the bottle at B contains a 50 per cent. common salt (a very strong brine) upon which the seeds that may remain at the bottom thereby may be easily separated. CHARGE OF UNIFORMITY.

Prof. L. C. Corbett, of Department

The fact that the consumer growers and truck growers are so well organized as are the more distant producers is largely due to the fact that the advantages of lower expense and that the necessity of handling in small consignments by this method of small farm shipments, the product upon which is less uniform in character as regards grade and method of packaging, than is the case when the product is raised in the extensive plantations and is then to be handled en masse and successively, vegetables must be uniform in character and size of product well graded. These advantages which have been the distant shippers and which are the reason why these foreign growers have been forced to expand by the necessity of shipping large lots.

Tokio, Japan. Tokio is a nest of problems. Into the "Far Eastern Question" has its focus. And an investigator finds that it is by no means an abstract question, but an intense woven mass of political, social, and economic relations to the other. Out of the whole I have tried to estimate the two that appear to be fundamental—education and morality, and both have a direct bearing upon the one dommy and religious situation which I am studying.

Tokio is the greatest student center in the world, with more than 50,000 students of the higher branches. Here young Japan, in contact with the western learning, has concentrated the ambitions. The streets teem with young men and women students. The procession of those that may be seen any day along the main thoroughfare, the great boulevard, is the most significant spectacle in all Japan. It is the envy of the nation's ambition. I do not wonder that the older statesmen are shaking their heads and looking grave over it, for I am convinced that I shall never fully understand the that a close work is doing. I am sure that the future of the world is in the hands of the young men and women of this generation. I am sure that the future of the world is in the hands of the young men and women of this generation. I am sure that the future of the world is in the hands of the young men and women of this generation.

So great is the craze for education that, although the latter shows figures of the Japanese government of 1935 per cent, of the population of school age are under instruction (an American educator here figures it as 69.05 per cent, according to western reckoning), there is not room in the institutions of higher grade for all the applicants. Japan has only eight colleges and two universities, but each of these has a very large enrollment. 2. Second the other day of 1,000 students being examined for entrance

This reported students feel disgraced, and this is one cause of the student that are so common among this class of the Japanese.

It is freely stated that much of the modern education is quite superficial. Certainly the students possess a fertile field for the exploitation of mediocrities and other natures. There are not shown in the nation for these educated young men commensurate with their abilities. So there is considerable political as well as mental unrest.

One striking result of the craze for education is the universal desire to learn English, which is regarded as the language of progress and civilization. There is no similar zeal for French or German. The higher pub-

He would teach English, and tens of thousands are learning it privately. Train boys, railroad men, waiters, shopkeepers, clerks, students, follow passengers in trains—all sorts of Japanese have come to me since I have been here for help in English. Any good-natured foreigner could keep busily employed 24 hours a day instructing the Japanese in the mysteries of English. Recently I visited a mission night school in Kobe which was literally jammed with young men employed during the day as teachers, clerks, etc. Not only were the rooms crowded but outside of the doors and windows stood clumps of eager students, each hand rubbing the tuition due. The mission force was inadequate, and two outside helpers, Englishmen, had been engaged temporarily. It was highly satisfying to hear an enthusiastic young man teach his

Leading a Nation to School.

It was the missionaries who introduced higher education into Japan. One of them, Dr. David Murray, was the government's educational adviser and helped organize the system. The first of the Japanese institutions of higher learning was the Doshisha, founded by the runaway youth, Joseph Hardy Newhall, who was trained at home and is now esteemed by the nation as one of its great men. The Doshisha, which is located at Kyoto, is the most famous of mission schools in this country, and it is still doing successful work, with about 600 students. The average age of the latter is lower than formerly, as some of them were sent to established mission

Must Mission Schools Go?

The intensely national spirit among the Japanese, together with the creation of the new educational system, has largely altered the status and character of the mission schools. Whatever changes the future brings, it is evident, however, that from the mission schools Japan has received tremendous educational impulse, a hoast of trained teachers, and a company of unselfish counselors. Furthermore, it must be admitted that at the present time a great service is being done by the mission schools, which are maintained throughout the empire by the various denominations in such numbers and variety that success cannot be expected even to manage the score or more that I have personally visited.

The size and scope of these institutions, of which the Dooshila at Kio-to, the Protestant Episcopal, Presby-terious fact is that the German Reformed school at Tokio, the German Reformed school at Sendai and the Southern Methodist school at Kobe, may be cited as conspicuous examples—beyond the knowledge of the people of America. That one country should contribute such tremendous influences to the upbuilding of another is certainly an evidence of the altruistic character of Christian relations. While it is true that by far the larger proportion of the graduates become Christian it is also true

"Religious" Skyscrapers.

"To look at the new office buildings going up in this town," remarked a New York student of architecture, "one would think we had been going through a great religious revival, that is, if the style of the architecture of a period is any evidence of the spirit of the times. I can't put my finger on the causes for this rage for the collegiate Gothic that is now so much in evidence since the Trinity skyscraper was put up, but that order

Wausau won two games and the third was prevented by rain. Tony won and Tom sent the coffee Saturday.

No less than 3500 yards of ribbon will be required to furnish the material for the various service badges and emblems authorized to be issued by the war department some time ago. These badges are for service in the Spanish war, the Philippine insurrection, the China expedition, the Civil war and the Indian wars, as well as for the certificates of merit and the congressional medal. Each badge will have distinctive ribbon, in accordance with a color scheme adopted some time ago. The distribution of the badges will begin probably about September 1.

The bill which passed the legislature providing for a teacher's employment bureau as reported in this paper last week, was later voted by the Governor on the ground that the teachers of the state are among the most intelligent and careful of themselves, and further, that every County Superintendent and Normal School, as well as the University, is already acting as such agency; that there is no ground of public upon which such a law can rest, and that the State should not undertake the business of securing employment for any class of citizens unless some benefit accrues to the public by such an undertaking.

Last week the writer in company with George and Guy Wood visited the Outlook addition in the western part of the city which these gentlemen have recently sold. They have already sold a number of lots from the tract and two houses are in course of construction and nearly completed. The land is level and nicely situated and the streets have all been graded and put in passable condition. The tract is directly across the street from Cloverdale addition which has been on the market for some time and in which a number of lots have been sold and there is no question but what it will be very long before there is quite so good a settlement in that immediate vicinity. For men who are employed in the factories on the west side the place is admirably located for residence sites.

Chin World's Record. Baseball fans in the northwest claim for Walter Johnson, a native of California, now playing with an Idaho state league team at Weiser, south of Spokane, the world's record, he having pitched 57 games without a run being scored against him. The record had made the claim that Della Olson, the most beautiful woman in Chicago, surpassed in charms any other woman in America. Out of this challenge the American beauty quest developed, but there is still a great and natural interest as to which of these two women excels the other. As both appear in the group of six selected as the best among the twenty-seven first prize winners of the various states, the question can not be determined until the detailed decision of this judge is made known. This will be officially announced next Sunday, as well as the order of the first five awards in the national quest.

Why So Weak? Kidney Troubles May Be Sapping Your Life Away. Grand Rapids People Have Learned This Fact. When a healthy man or woman begins to run down without apparent cause, becomes weak, languid, depressed, suffers from headache, dizzy spells and urinary disorders, it is the kidneys for the cause of it all. Keep the kidneys healthy and they will keep you well. Dean's Kidney Pills cure sick kidneys and keep them well. Joseph Fowler of 6 Park Ave., Jamestown, Wis., says: "Dull aching and pain in the joints often extend around to my sides and there seemed to be no relief from the misery it brought me. Sometimes I was actually unfit for work. I used liniments and hot applications and tried various remedies but all the time I was growing worse. Finally I saw Dean's Kidney Pills recommended in our papers and got a box at a drug store. They gave me some relief at once and in a few days after taking the first dose the backache and misery left me. I gained and since then have had no return of the trouble."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, New York, sole agents for the United States. Remember the name—Dean's—and take no other.

CORNELL WINS BIG RACE

FIRST IN EIGHT-OARED CONTEST AT POUGHKEEPSIE.

Columbia a Close Second—Syracuse Four-Oared Shell and Wisconsin Freshmen Victors.

Poughkeepsie, N. Y.—Cornell won the varsity eight-oared race at the intercollegiate regatta for the eighth time last Wednesday evening. The time last evening was 20:02.5 seconds.

Cornell's time over the course was 20:02.5 seconds. Columbia was second; United States Naval Academy third; Pennsylvania, fourth; Wisconsin, fifth; Georgetown, sixth, and Syracuse did not finish, her shell being swamped a half mile from the finish line.

The freshmen eight-oared race was won by the freshmen of Cornell, and until the finish line was crossed and the judges announced that Cornell had won the thousands of spectators, both on the water and on shore, were in doubt as to which crew won the victory.

Syracuse captured the honors of the varsity four-oared shells from Cornell, Pennsylvania and Columbia, which finished in the order named. Syracuse finished two lengths ahead of Cornell and her time over the two-mile course was 10 minutes and 37.4 seconds.

Wisconsin won the freshmen eight-oared race over the course of two miles, leading Syracuse over the finish line by one length and covering the distance in nine minutes and 50 seconds. Pennsylvania was third; Columbia fourth and Cornell fifth.

Columbia towed the last quarter of the mile with an almost waterlogged shell, which filled near the stern when three feet of plank was ripped off by striking a submerged log.

The varsity race was postponed until after seven o'clock on account of rough water. Twenty thousand people saw the race, and the cheering from the shore was deafening.

The cross-examination of Davis by Senator Borah was severe and searching, and was chiefly devoted, as far as it proceeded, to the Bunker Hill and Sullivan affairs.

Davis said that he had been blown up because he did not want to be deported or thrown into the "bull pen," and that he changed his name when he departed for Italy shortly after because he feared the mine owners' "blacklist," made up from a petition that the employees of the Bunker Hill mill had sent to Gov. McConnell protesting against the safety of the mine.

Borah showed that the petition had been presented six years before, and that it was a federation camp where the black-list was ineffective.

John M. O'Neill, editor of the "Miner's Magazine," testified that Orchard came to his office early in 1904 and asked for the addresses of Gov. Peabody and Gen. Sherman Hall, who he said should be "bumped off."

Tells of Orchard's Threats. Boise, Idaho.—The first direct testimony in the Oregon case of John M. O'Neill, editor of the "Miner's Magazine," was given Tuesday, and it was chiefly directed toward showing that Harry Orchard, blaming Frank Steunenberg for the loss of his interest in the Hercules mine, had threatened to have revenge by killing him, and that he had threatened to kill Steunenberg, who before the independence explosion, when they were frequently seen together, and afterwards, when Sterling called off the bloodhound that was following Orchard's trail, justified the inference that the mine owners injured the crime.

The killing of the first witness for the defense was preceded by a further examination of Orchard to permit the defense to complete its formal impeachment questions. These questions were nearly all in connection with the claim that Orchard had been guilty of the crime of an alleged grudge against the sale of his interest in the Hercules mine.

Orchard, who came into court under protection of the same flying squad of guards that always acted as his escort, maintained his old calmness and spoke in a low, steady voice. He denied that he ever threatened to kill Steunenberg because of the Hercules mine and again asserted that he sold his interest in the mine two years before the trouble that drove him out of northern Idaho. Two witnesses called Orchard to the stand, and he was asked to testify to the grudge against the sale of his interest in the Hercules mine.

TORNADO IN OIL FIELDS

TERRIFIC STORM SWEEPS OVER INDIAN TERRITORY.

Three Persons Reported Killed at Sapulpa—Hundreds of Dericks Are Blown Down.

Muskogee, I. T.—A tornado, followed by a cloudburst, swept the oil fields of northern Indian Territory Wednesday morning.

Three persons are reported killed at Sapulpa, the heart of the great oil pool, where the storm was fiercest. Frank Roper is known to be dead, but two others are said to have been found whose names are not known.

Water rushed down the streets of Sapulpa over a foot in depth. Plate glass was broken throughout the town and the roof torn from the hotel.

Over 100 derricks are reported down in the Tulsa pool and it is said all the oil derricks in the Oklahoma territory have been swept away. Fifty-four derricks are reported down at Tulsa. At Tulsa houses were overturned and brick buildings demolished. Muskogee suffered no serious loss.

The general loss throughout the oil fields will be enormous, but at present cannot be estimated. Many wells are running wild, the oil flooding the land. A conservative estimate places the number of rigs blown down in the Tulsa pool at one-third the total. The combination oil and gas well at Sapulpa was blown down, and the gas well at Sapulpa was blown down.

One building of the Creek oil company's home was struck and destroyed. The total loss by the storm is estimated at $500,000.

Natchez, Miss., June 27.—A 40-mile-an-hour wind storm struck this city Wednesday afternoon, doing considerable damage. The Belle Prince, a stern wheel boat belonging to the New Orleans and Northwestern box company, was turned over and sunk in ten feet of water.

St. Louis.—It was officially announced last Monday afternoon that the conferences which have been held in the St. Louis conference, have culminated in the formation of an $800,000 combination of nine independent breweries in St. Louis, East St. Louis, Ill., and Granite City, Ill. According to Henry Kochler, president of the American Brewing company, all the representatives have signed the contract. James S. Bradley, of Toledo, O., has been promoting the combination.

New Cruiser Sent South. Washington.—The possibility of serious trouble in Central America growing out of the disturbed conditions existing there incidental to the alleged ambition of President Zelaya, of Nicaragua, to form a union of Central American states, has caused the administration to dispatch to that locality, Orders for her to proceed forthwith from the Mare Island navy yard, California, westward from the navy department Tuesday.

Tenement Falls; Seven Dead. New York.—Seven persons, six of them members of one Italian family were killed early Tuesday in the collapse of a ramshackle tenement in the downtown Italian quarter. Three other members of the same family, including the father and mother, are in a hospital, painfully injured.

Blast Furnace Men to Strike. Pittsburg, Pa.—A strike of the blast furnace men, which, it is said, will affect between 10,000 and 15,000 men, will probably be called on Monday, July 1. The difficulty is over an eight-hour day.

Negro Kills a Young Georgian. Atlanta, Ga.—Hal Brewster, 27 years old, the son of Col. P. B. Brewster, one of Atlanta's prominent lawyers, was shot and almost instantly killed on an excursion train Monday by a negro named Fred Early. Young Brewster and several others were depulized by the sheriff to arrest Early, who was wanted for a series of crimes. When they attempted to take the negro into custody he fired, killing Brewster and wounding several others. Early jumped from the train, but was captured later.

Negro Kills a Constable. Memphis, Tenn.—Constable J. H. Good is dead and Isaac Reed, a negro, is suffering from wounds which are considered fatal as a result of a pistol duel late Sunday between the two. Reed was the oldest living graduate of Columbia college, New York, died at his home here.

Two Bathers Are Drowned. Columbus O.—Henry Zipt and Herman Ludwig were drowned in Big Walnut creek near this city Sunday morning of acute kidney trouble. He was a son of Mrs. J. Ellen Foster, the lecturer.

YALE'S CREW VICTOR

DEFEATS HARVARD BY ONLY A SCANT BOAT LENGTH.

E. H. HARRIMAN ARRESTED

Magnate Ignores Course Rules and Is Made Prisoner by President Roosevelt's Naval Aide.

New London, Conn.—Before the largest crowd that ever witnessed a race on the Thames river the Yale crew Thursday evening, towing on an average of four strokes to the minute less than Harvard, held the big Cambridge eight until the last half mile, when the blue team's speed was a successful contrast by a scant boat length. Yale's time for the four miles was 21 minutes and 10 seconds, Harvard's, 21 minutes and 30 seconds.

The race was accompanied by one disagreeable incident. This was the arrest of E. H. Harriman, the millionaire magnate by Lieut. Bulmer, President Roosevelt's naval aide, Lieut. Bulmer, who was in charge of the revenue cutters, had wanted every boat other than to follow the race. The big varsity struggle had scarcely been started when Mr. Harriman, in a powerful motor boat, started to follow the race.

LITTLE CAUSE FOR WORRY.
Over in the Salmon river meadow country, in Idaho, ranged a wild and woolly bunch of long-haired cow-punchers, whose knowledge of the world was confined mainly to trips after cattle into surrounding counties. Into this reckless but verdant community there came the smooth-tongued representative of a wild west show, who hired several riders at a high salary to do a hair-raising act the chief feature being that they should appear to be thrown from their horses and dragged by the foot.

THOUGHT CHILD WOULD DIE.
Whole Body Covered with Cuban Itch—Cubana Remedies Cured at Cost of Seventy-Five Cents.
"My little boy, when only an infant of three months, caught the Cuban Itch. Since broke out from his head to the bottom of his feet. He would not sleep and cry all the time. He could not sleep day or night, and the doctor is all he could get. I called one of our best doctors to treat him, but he seemed to get worse. He suffered so terribly that my husband said he believed he would have to die. I had almost given up hope when a lady friend told me to try the Cuban Remedies. I used them and the Cuban Itch was entirely well. The treatment only cost me 75c, and I would have gladly paid $100 if I could not have got it cheaper. I feel safe in saying that the Cuban Remedies saved his life. He is now a healthy boy of two years. Cuba Miller, Union City, N. J. D. No. 1, Branch Co., Mich., May 17, 1906."

AMBIGUOUS.
At the death of a well-known pastor some years ago the vestry of a prominent New York church resolved to place a tablet to his memory in the vestibule of the church, tells Harper's Weekly. In due time the tablet arrived in its place, where it still remains. It has caused not a little talk, for, after reading a list of the former pastor's virtues and labors, it closes with the quotation: "Now the people of God have rest."

Are you troubled with pallor, loss of spirits, waves of heat passing over the body, shortness of breath after slight exertion, a peculiar skipping of the heart beat, poor digestion, cold extremities or a feeling of weight and fullness? Do not make the mistake of thinking that these are diseases in themselves and be satisfied with temporary relief. This is the way the nerves give warning that they are breaking down. It is simply another case of the blood becoming impure and cannot carry enough nourishment to the nerves to keep them healthy and able to do their work.

No screen was between the dynamite and the fire where the "powder man" worked. If he feared that fatal error popping from the dry sticks in the fire he did not show it. In a methodical, careful way, this grave, quiet man worked swiftly and silently by the fire.

AMONG CRANBERRY MEN.

EDITED BY J. A. GAYNOR.

Grand Rapids, Wisconsin.

Experiment Station Notes.

By C. B. HARDENBERG and O. G. MALE.

Until now the cranberry experiment station at Orono has been rather reluctant in regard to the giving out of information or suggestions to cranberry growers during the summer season, as it was not deemed advisable to rush into print with statements, which were gathered from a few isolated facts, or suggestions, the practicability of which could only be determined by repeated experiments. Therefore it has been the practice to gather all facts and experiments at the end of the season's work, and combine them into our annual report, drawing only such conclusions as were fully warranted by our results.

The experiment station however, in order to fulfill its purpose, namely that of being of practical assistance to the cranberry growers, needs their cooperation, and they should be kept in touch with and interested in the work. Being done there, and as an annual report is not the best way to accomplish this, (reaching the cranberry men in the winter time, when their interest is at low ebb) we realize that we should publish the facts and results of preliminary experiments from time to time as they come up, calling the grower's attention to new problems and soliciting their correspondence and opinion, and cooperation in regard to new methods of dealing with old ones.

A New Friend of the Cranberry Grower.

Shortly after my arrival on the station, June 15th, I needed a little yellow-headed vane flying around, which disappeared in a narrow row of trees standing on a shelf. Wondering what it was doing there, I looked in and saw that the tube was almost completely clogged with mud; and upon shaking it out upon a piece of white paper, a number of yellow-headed vane worms fell out; thirty-six of them, all partly paralyzed, with only the abdomen movable. To one of them an egg of the wasp was attached. It is well known that certain mud wasps hunt caterpillars, spiders, grasshoppers, etc., any particular kind of wasp, confining itself to only one kind of spider, grasshopper or caterpillar as the case may be, which it paralyzes by one or two stings, carries to a nest dug in the ground or built of mud in a convenient corner and when a sufficient number have been put in, it lays an egg and seals up the nest. These caterpillars are not killed but only paralyzed so that the larva of the wasp, upon hatching has a sufficient supply of fresh food to grow and complete its development. A single wasp will always make a good many nests in a season, and as each nest is provided with a number of victims, these wasps destroy a good many of them in a summer. These general facts are well known, but, to my knowledge this far no account has been published of a wasp choosing the yellow-headed vine worm for its victim. Only yellowheads were found in the nest, and equally plentiful, none of them was found among the thirty-six in this particular nest. These small percentage of the worms are alive yet, some two weeks after having been stung.

The wasp in question (as yet its name has not been determined), is not at all uncommon (more than half a dozen have been found accidentally in or on the house), and, also it is not that it will be abundant enough to prove of any practical value in exterminating the worm. I would mention it as being of interest, and caution the growers not to destroy it, when found. The wasp is about 1/2 to 1 inch long, with a black head and four yellow rings at the hind part of the body and the legs banded with yellow.

An Apparently New Enemy.

This year we have noticed on the bugs around here, the appearance of what we think to be the false army worm (Calocampa nuptia, Linnaeus). In its young stage it looks very much like the yellow-headed vine worm, but the yellow-headed vine worm, like the yellow-headed vine worm, has a yellow head and thorax, and a greenish-brown abdomen, with a row of white spots along the side. The false army worm, on the other hand, has a greenish-brown head and thorax, and a yellowish-brown abdomen, with a row of white spots along the side.

Boon for Skin Sufferers.

—Based on the knowledge that diseases of the skin must be treated through the skin, D. D. D. Prescription strikes the germ that eats into the weak cuticle, and by destroying it destroys the cause of the disease. Though mild as a gargle and cleanser as pure water, D. D. D. Prescription is a powerful liquid in combating the germs of eczema, psoriasis, seborrhea, ringworm, dandruff and all forms of skin disease.

Originally a doctor's prescription, it is manufactured so that it may reach everybody and be no therefore a "patent" medicine. Unprepared doctors prescribe it freely. No extravagant claims are made for it. Its strongest recommendation comes from thousands of persons who have been cured and their letters will be shown you at our drug stores.

Murder at Stratford.

A revolting murder occurred at Stratford on Sunday afternoon, the victim being Jennie Reble, the seventeen year old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Reble, who lived near Stratford. The girl was returning from church when she was waylaid and assaulted and murdered only a short distance from her home.

Two tramps were subsequently arrested on suspicion of being the perpetrators of the crime, but as yet nothing has been proven against them.

Cradle of New York City.

Bowling Green was the cradle of New York City. It was the center of New Amsterdam. The Dutch court house is to the old Dutch fort. No 1 Broadway was successively the home and headquarters of Lord Cornwallis, Lord Howe and Sir Henry Clinton, and Talleyrand lived there during his stay in this country. On the borders of the green was the home of Benedict Arnold and Robert Fulton.

Concerning City Improvement.

My dear Mrs. MacKinnon:

I am greatly interested in the beautifying of our city but feel unable to assist personally.

Will you kindly accept the enclosed contribution to help the good work along? May I suggest that the Federation could do a much needed work in securing the enforcement of the law in regard to leading the cows to pasture. We find that no work on the river bank awaits while cows are daily driven there. We have been planting shrubs and sowing grass seed but the cows ruin all. The law against the use of bicycles on sidewalks should also be enforced. No attention seems to be paid to it.

Mr. Manning, the landscape architect, suggested that the property owners should unite in improving the river banks in a uniform manner. We would be very glad to assist in any plan that would preserve our river banks as a thing of beauty instead of the unsightly appearance they now present in some parts of the city.

Yours sincerely

Mrs. E. E. Nash.

This letter written by Mrs. T. E. Nash to Mrs. MacKinnon will be of interest to the people of our city, showing the interest that is being taken in our Park Commission and the work of the city Federation in their efforts to beautify our little city.

There is much to be done, and the work could move faster if the committee had more funds. All work of this nature is very expensive and any contribution will be very gladly received to help the good work along.

The small park on Third Ave. has been cleared, plowed, dragged, but it must be raked, rolled, cleaned up on the sides before it can be sown with grass seed. In another year this little recreation ground will be quite an object of pride, we hope.

The work of the library park is in preparation for the plans of a landscape architect, and the proposed plan will include the Library building and lots north, and also the ravine back of the Arpa property and up to the bluff and the stream of water from a spring there are features usually made artificially in city parks and will make a more attractive addition to our city when finished.

Mrs. MacKinnon, one of the park commissioners, has been corresponding with Judge John Olin of Madison, the "Father" and President of the Park association of Madison and his letter to our readers, and all who are interested in making our city what it should be.

His advice is on the necessity of employing a landscape architect at the very beginning. We would hardly think of creating a public building without the services of an architect and this work requires the advice and plans of a man who makes his profession, grading, planting and laying out walks and driveways to give the best results the situation offers.

We want to begin right and have no time, a very valuable item in our door work, and an economy in the end.

Work on the river banks will be begun at once, cleaning up and mowing the grass. This is only temporary work to make the banks look clean and neat, but it will add much to the appearance of the riverine property facing the river also improve the drive along the river. We find our citizens very willing and anxious to help the good work along, which should be a matter of pride to every man, woman and child in the city.

Following is Mr. Olin's letter:

Madison, Wis., June 18, 1907.

Mrs. E. MacKinnon, Chairman of the City Improvement Committee, Grand Rapids, Wis.

Dear Madam: June 15th, received and contents noted.

You are certainly right in your plan to employ the services of some competent landscape designer to help with you as to either securing land for parks or properly treating the same after such land is secured.

For a number of years in the work at Madison we did our work without the aid of the services of such a person but we soon saw that that was unwise. We first employed for a number of years Mr. O. C. Sina's of Chicago, a competent landscape designer. But as our work grew, we felt that we needed the services of a man here on the ground, a good share, if not all, of his time. Hence, we induced the common council in conjunction with our association, to establish the office of park superintendent, and to fill the same with a man recognized by the directors of our association. We were very fortunate in getting a man especially trained in this line of work who had been for eight years previous to coming to Madison in the service of Olmsted Bros., Boston. His name is Mr. Emil T. Mische. He has proven very satisfactory. I regard him as thoroughly competent to advise you in your work there. The best recommendation I can give him is that our directors have entrusted and are entrusting to him the making of the plans for large and important parks within our city limits. We have seen enough of his work to be thoroughly satisfied that he is very well qualified and I have no hesitation in recommending him to you for your work there. If you should see fit to employ him, I think we could try to arrange to give him leave of absence for a sufficient length of time to enable him to advise you as to your work there.

Under other cover I send you a copy of our last annual report. On page 83 thereof you will find copy of a map or plan for Henry, Vilas Park, which was designed by Mr. Mische, and the planting has been done the present spring.

Yours very truly,

John W. Olin.

President.
